BORROWERS PAY A HIGH RATE OF INTEREST.

Items in Regard to the Ocean Bank Robbery.

Dinner to Capt. E. R. Jones, Consul to New Castle.

Return of Cuban Expeditionists.

Keys and Hoar on the National Banks.

Racing at Rensselaer Park.

NEW YORK, June 30.

During the past two days late borrowers, in order to make up their accounts at bank, have been forced to pay as high as half of one per cent. interest for the use of funds over night. Yesterday the demand continued till after 4 o'clock, some of the banks having to remain open to accommodate customers, who were tardy in making up their balances. The interest paid for one day was at the rate of one hundred and eighty per cent. per annum.

In regard to the Ocean Bank robbery, several new items, which apparently are of little importance, have been known. An old practical mechanic has examined the kit of instruments left by the burglars, and says only one or two of them have been recently used. The stem of the auger found was only twenty-two inches in length, while the holes bored in the floor are twenty-four inches deep. The real mystery in the whole affair lies in the manner in which the combination was opened, and it is suggested that the door may not have been locked at all.

Capt. Evan R. Jones, of Milwaukee, United States Consul to Newcastle-upon-Tyne, was entertained last evening at dinner by a number of his friends, all Welsh-Americans.

Lieut. Commander Wm. H. Van Vleet, U. S. Navy, died last evening of yellow fever on board the hospital steamer Illinois.

Several of the Cuban expeditionists have returned to this city, reporting that they have been on steam tugs in Long Island Sound, expecting to be put on the steamer Catharine Whiting, which was seized. They have run short of provisions. Two of the tugs put into New London for food and water, when some of the men deserted and came back to this city. They state that two steam tugs, loaded with expeditionists, transferred their loads to a steamer, on Sunday night, and it is expected that they got off safely to sea.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 29.

The Journal publishes an argument by Hon. E. W. Keys, Deputy Superintendent of the Bank Department, reviewing the opinion of Attorney-General Hoar that national banks cannot be converted into State institutions. Mr. Keys makes a strong argument controverting the opinion of Attorney-General Hoar.

It is stated that Hon. J. A. Griswold is at the head of an enterprise to bring coal from Pennsylvania to this city via the Susquehanna railroad.

Suicide in Vincennes.

A MURDER.

Attempt to Induce Stokes to Withdraw.

NASHVILLE, June 29.

It is currently reported here that Gen. Stokes, in his first speech in Middle Tennessee, will take ground in favor of calling a convention without regard to legal forms, and at once enfranchising everybody in the State. This policy is fore- shadowed by the State Journal, the organ of Stokes at Nashville, which says that he will, if elected, recommend the immediate calling of a convention under the bill of rights of the constitution, to so amend the constitution as to admit to the elective franchise all male citizens of the State who have arrived at the age of twenty-one years.

I see your Washington correspondent telegraphed on Sunday night that the administration would, in the appointment of a Supervisor of Internal Revenue for Tennessee, indicate its preferences as between the Senter and Stokes parties. To this it is only necessary to add that Mr. Emory, the appointee, is a supporter of Governor Senter, as are all his friends.

There is a general acquiescence in the acts of Mr. Bass, the Receiver for the corporation of Nashville.

Benton, a former Representative from Robertson county, was killed at Spring- field to-day by a man named Simpson. The affair grew out of a difficulty concerning the wife of Simpson. Mr. Benton received three bullets through his head and died immediately.

A committee left Nashville this morning to hunt up General Stokes and try to induce him to get off the track in favor of A. J. Fletcher, present Secretary of State. This is caused by the alarm created by the continued defection of Stokes' supporters.

Fletcher has not yet declared for either Senter or Stokes, although it is understood that he has privately supported the latter. Stokes' managers think that he can run him in on Senter's platform. Stokes will not probably withdraw, and if he does, I believe he will be beaten before the race begins.

Recent successful experiments have been made in this city with working a model aerial navigation machine. It not only ascended into the air, but was propelled in any required direction by machinery of a capacity of carrying eight or ten persons, being constructed for the purpose of making a trip to New York.

The inventor is confident the trip can be made in twenty hours.

WASHINGTON.

REPORT OF COMMISSIONER OF GENERAL LAND OFFICE.

The Libel Case of Bradley against Fisher.

Verdict Rendered for Defendant.

WASHINGTON, June 29.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has received returns showing the disposal of 92,850 acres of the public lands of local offices at Enclave, Wis., during the past month. Nearly all the land disposed of sold for cash, but some was taken under the homestead law and located with military bounty land warrants. The cash sales amounted to $129,726.

The libel case of Joseph H. Bradley against Judge Fisher was again before the Circuit Court to-day. Judge Wiley decided that the bona fide of a judge cannot be impugned in an action at law, then, though the judge has acted improperly or corruptly, and that an order made punishing for a contempt in the cause of a trial is to be regarded as an order in the case though the punishment be not inflicted until the case closed, and the bill of exceptions of plaintiff was filed, and under the ruling of the court the jury rendered a verdict for the defendant. The case now goes to the general term.

Distressing Accident.

LANCASTER, Pa., June 30.

A terrible accident occurred in the iron works of B. B. Thomas & Co., in this city, yesterday. While some workmen were engaged in removing the lining from a furnace, a portion of the structure fell, carrying with it the scaffolding upon which the men were standing. One, a German, named Jno. Schlenz, was instantly killed, and two others were injured in such a manner as to render their recovery very doubtful. It is rumored that Schlenz fell into the furnace and was instantly burned up.

United States District Court.

The trial of Wm. Satterfield for the alleged arrest of Simon Rice was conducted in this court this morning. The jury rendered a verdict for $500 damages and costs against the defendant and in favor of the plaintiff.

Blwy and Kennard.

Blwy and Kennard, the Lewis county murderers, appeared in the United States District Court this morning. Judge Ballard ordered that the execution of the sentence passed upon the prisoners be postponed till Friday, the 29th day of next October.

Good News.

The President of the Board of Health informs us that the alleys and gutters throughout the city are in a cleaner condition at present than they have ever been known to be in the history of the city. This may be all true enough, but we know of several gutters that would not be materially damaged by a little renovation.

Railroad Enterprise.

We have it from the Frankfort special of the Cincinnati Commercial of this morning, that it is now considered positive that the Big Sandy, Elizabethtown and Paducah Railway will be completed at an early day, at least as far as the line east of Lexington is concerned. Arrangements with a respectable company for its construction have about been completed.

Railroad Damaged.

A Valparaiso, Ind., dispatch of yesterday says: "On the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago railroad there was a serious wash at Kankakee, the track being taken away for about one thousand two hundred feet. It has been put in repair, and trains are passing over it regularly, as is the case with other roads, the water having subsided very rapidly, and no further danger can be now anticipated."

E. Rumsey Wing, Esq.

A Frankfort special of yesterday to the Cincinnati Commercial says: "We are enabled to state positively that E. Rumsey Wing, Esq., will continue as the Republican candidate for State Treasurer. In a personal conversation Mr. Wing informed us that, aware of his precarious health and inability to make an active canvass, he asked the State Central Committee to name a man, offering to resign in his favor. The committee declined to accept the resignation."

Emerson & Manning's Minstrels.

To-night is the last of this gigantic minstrel organization's engagement in our city. Let all who desire to see the great Emerson and the "immense" Manning bear this fact in mind. Their performances have been even more than was promised for them. Everybody has been delighted, and when they leave, they will go with the pleasant consciousness of having fully come up to the expectations of their old friends and made hosts of new ones in Louisville, who will gladly welcome them when they find it convenient to again wind their way hither.

THE OCEAN BANK ROBBERY.

A New Albanian Loses $10,500 in Bonds.

During last summer F. C. Johnson, brother-in-law of General L. C. Murray, of this city, while on a visit to New York city, deposited in the Ocean Bank in the latter city $10,500 in government bonds, for safe keeping. One of the heaviest bank robberies ever perpetrated in New York occurred there last Saturday night, and the victim was the Ocean Bank. Mr. Johnson's bonds went with the rest of the vast amount stolen. He received notice of his loss yesterday.

The Newcombs.

The justly celebrated Newcomb's minstrels will open at Weisiger Hall on next Monday evening for a season of three nights. This company has repeatedly visited our city in time past, but it has been many months since their friends here have had an opportunity of witnessing their funny acts and listening to their soul-enchanting vocal and instrumental music; hence Mr. Newcomb may expect crowded houses each night of his sojourn with us. Reserved seats may be secured at the music store of Will S. Hays, on Fourth street, between Market and Jefferson.

Board, the Artist.

Everything that pertains to the person- ality of men of genius is eagerly sought for by the public. We have recently heard a story of Beethoven which combines the humorous with what critics call "the sentiment in art."

Poor Beethoven worked on his great picture in the crayon grouting for a whole month. Day by day he labored to produce his mind's idea. The horses and cattle in their black nudity, without a background stared at him from the great canvas. He came to his studio, locked its door, and sat gazing at the incipient picture. It was good, but his artistic sense was not satisfied. For an hour he sat brooding over it. Suddenly he sprang to his feet, took his sponge and ruthlessly and remorselessly wiped out the labor of the month. Then he sat down and—

—we spare his feelings—

—he painted the picture.

Not to be conquered, he went to work again and now the result of his labor is known to all. The destruction of this month's work made the lovers of art grieve by one of the best pictures ever produced in America, if not in the world.

JOSEPH CROXTON.

His Appearance in Court this Morning.

The trial of this unfortunate man, who shot and killed Benjamin Miller in the far bank on Fifth street, known as "102," in April last, was commenced in the Jefferson Criminal Court this morning. Twenty-four gentlemen, who had been summoned as jurors, were examined, as is usual in such cases. Every one of them was challenged, and the grounds given by their being sufficient to prevent their serving as jurors in the case, they were dismissed. Great difficulty will evidently be experienced in securing a jury in this case. Almost every one of the gentlemen summoned an examined this morning had previously formed or expressed an opinion in the matter, hence, they were ineligible as jurors in this trial. This cause will be kept to make it almost impossible to find a sufficient number of otherwise eligible jurors, nearly every citizen who could become a juror having either formed or expressed an opinion in this matter, which, from the nature of the sad affair, was freely discussed by the press both at the time of and long after its occurrence. One hundred men will be summoned to-morrow, out of which number an effort will be made to select a jury, and, if successful, the trial will then proceed.

When Croxtion entered the court room this morning immense crowds pressed in through the door, and packed the room to its utmost capacity. The strictest order was, however, enforced by Judge Bruce, through the sheriffs and constables. The enclosures occupied by the bar, jury and clerks were cleared, and no outsiders, save press reporters, were admitted there.

Croxtion's appearance was calm and collected. Save a dark pallor beneath the eyes, he was looking as well as we have ever seen him. His general bearing was that of a man engaged in serious meditation. He seldom looked around or about him, save when the name of a new juror was called. As each one of the gentlemen summoned for the jury in his trial responded to his name, Croxtion fixed his eyes upon him, and surveyed him steadily for a moment, as if endeavoring to read in his face what his feelings toward him might be.

At about a quarter past one o'clock the list of the summoned jurors was exhausted, without having found a single eligible. The court then adjourned till half past nine o'clock to-morrow morning, when another attempt to empanel a jury will be made.

THE COURTS.

LOUISVILLE CITY COURT.

HON. E. S. CRAIG, JUDGE.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, June 30.

—Gently rest.

Slumber on—indeed it's best—

For we know that sleep is peace;

In it drunk will find release.

Those that tried have all confessed—

So gently rest.

And Dick Rorick settled down on the sidewalk, with one foot in the gutter and his head propped against an ash barrel for a comfortable snooze. How long he had thus enjoyed himself, he little knew; and cared still less about how far old time had wandered in a minute. Dick said he hadn't had but two drinks, but Justice pulled down the rag over her eyes just a little and saw a blossom on poor Rorick's nose, which was sufficient for $3 and a $100 for thirty days.

Dan Brown was the hero on the tapis for a loose drunk, but before the merits of the case was set out to the satisfaction of the court, a police tapped Dan on the shoulder, and looked him up for passing a ten dollar counterfeit bill. He will be heard from to-morrow.

George Boldock is a "hard-workin'" nigger for loose drunk, but before the merits of the case was set out to the satisfaction of the court, a police tapped Dan on the shoulder, and looked him up for passing a ten dollar counterfeit bill. He will be heard from to-morrow.
